Norma felt moved to leave us a gift in her will

Norma Hall contacted Dementia Adventure as she wanted to leave a gift in her will. She was inspired by the work we do, and wanted to help more people to benefit.

She says: "Nearly all of us will probably be affected by some sort of dementia. It's brilliant what Dementia Adventure are doing - supporting people with dementia to keep active and get outdoors. I hope a donation in my will brings adventure and fulfilment to the lives of more people with dementia in the future."

Writing or amending a Will does not need to be difficult or expensive and it is the best way to protect your family and give you peace of mind. A gift to Dementia Adventure would be taken out of your estate before Inheritance Tax is assessed. By making a bequest you could possibly reduce or avoid tax and you will be assured that you are making a difference in the lives of others. It's important to seek professional advice from a solicitor or financial advisor when making or amending a will. They will help you with the correct wording for a legacy.

"Making a Will is one of the most important decisions you will ever make. It's a lot more affordable and straightforward than you think and by having your Will professionally written, you ensure everything is covered and arranged as you would like. Moreover, a professionally drafted Will should avoid a number of legal pitfalls which can either lead to legal claims against your estate or unforeseen tax complications" - Adrian Poole, Partner, Porter Dodson and Trustee of Dementia Adventure.
